

CRITICAL INFORMATION SUMMARY

Description of the service: This is a combined telephone and internet service enabling telephone calls (both outbound and inbound) and network data access. Both services operate via R-Groups own private network wholly owned by subsidiary R-COM International.

Bundling - Telephony: There is one telephony package available for standalone unlimited telephony services. A discounted fee is available to add the unlimited telephony services to an existing internet bundle (as detailed below).

Bundling – Data: The internet plans are offered as a bundle. We offer three bundle packages for the data service (light, medium and unlimited) depending on a customer's preferences for monthly data allowance. These also include casual phone services (casual call rates apply).

Hardware: A modem is provided with both services free of charge. This package also includes the required wall cabling to connect the modem to the network. Please note that any other hardware is not supplied including telephony devices.

Minimum term: The minimum term for our services is one month. This is a month-to-month contract with no lock in agreement.
